

Dear Librarian,

I'm excited to partner with Kinokuniya, our exclusive agent in Japan, to identify institutions like yours that would benefit from access to our world-class collection of journals through the Complete Chicago Package (CCP). This affordable and convenient subscription option is used by many of the best institutions in the world to support their faculty's strong research output, their flourishing and emerging academic departments, and their engaged student populations.

The Complete Chicago Package provides seamless electronic access to the 90+ journals in our portfolio, ensuring your faculty and students have immediate access to the newest research without waiting for a print copy. CCP prices range from $11,000-$27,000 USD (single-site license) annually, depending on your institution's tier—this is more than a 60% savings over the list price. Access includes all "Current Content," meaning all issues published since each journal's born-digital volume (more than 140,000 articles, see journals.uchicago.edu/inst/content-coverage). We also have a "Full Run" option, which provides access back to volume 1, issue 1 for every journal (more than 460,000 articles).

We understand that this is a major purchasing decision and it's our intent to only contact librarians for which we believe there is a savings or scholastic benefit. We'd be happy to provide detailed analysis of content access attempts originating at your institution, in partnership with your Kinokuniya agent. If you're interested, please reach out to your agent to initiate that request.

We're currently taking orders for the 2025 CCP subscription year. If you commit now, we will turn on access for the remainder of 2024, free of charge. Please contact your Kinokuniya agent for a CCP quote so we can work together to find the best ways to support your scholars and students.

Sincerely,
Rich Connelly
